To launch a specialised facility to treat varicose veins

India Medtronic Private Limited, a wholly owned subsidiary of Medtronic plc, and Swizton Medicare (an initiative of 98 Fahrenheit Pvt. Ltd. subsidiaries), have joined hands to inaugurate vein clinics, aiming to offer advanced varicose vein treatments in partnership with leading hospitals.

The signing ceremony for this milestone collaboration took place at Aveksha Hospital in Singapora, Bengaluru. It also happens to be this partnership's first vein clinic.

It is estimated that about 20% of all adults will get varicose veins at some point in their lives. Recognising the pressing need for accessible and effective treatments, Medtronic and Swizton Medicare are committed to democratising healthcare by making specialised vein treatments available to a wider population.

Under this partnership, Medtronic will provide innovative varicose vein treatment solutions, along with training and education for healthcare professionals and patient education and awareness initiatives, to enhance patient outcomes. Swizton Medicare will leverage its expertise in healthcare services to deliver varicose vein-related therapies, ensuring holistic patient care and promoting awareness among the public about treatment modalities.

This partnership will empower individuals seeking relief from varicose veins. Equipped with advanced treatments such as adhesive treatment and radiofrequency ablation (RFA) from Medtronic, as well as sclerotherapy, the clinic is poised to deliver comprehensive care at an affordable cost.

Present at the inauguration were Mandeep Singh, Managing Director and Vice President, Medtronic India, Dr Tahsin Neduvanchery and Dr Rahul Deep from Swizton Medicare.
